

Budgeting and Inflation Management Solution

Gain clear visibility into inflation impact and cost trends to identify opportunities and manage risks

Inflation continues to be one of the biggest challenges for procurement and finance teams globally. Input costs fluctuate unpredictably, making budgeting, forecasting, and pricing decisions more complex than ever.

Many organizations still rely on fragmented data, lagging indicators, and disconnected tools. Market inflation trends, supplier contracts, and budget planning often operate in isolation – making it difficult to understand true exposure or take timely action. What’s missing is a foundation built on decision-grade intelligence – accurate, actionable, forward-looking, contextualized, and fit for decisions that matter.

Beroe’s Budgeting and Inflation Management solution sits on that foundation – bringing together market inflation and contract inflation insights to help businesses understand inflation exposure, anticipate risks, and act proactively with confidence.

Beroe’s comprehensive solution for managing inflation

Forecast with confidence

Access forward-looking insights into cost structures across direct and indirect categories to plan budgets efficiently

Deep inflation insights

Combine market trends with internal data to spot risks, uncover savings, and negotiate better using AI-driven recommendations

Unlock cost efficiencies

Identify savings and negotiation levers by benchmarking unit costs using market data and cost structure insights

Simulate price scenarios

Simulate ‘what-if’ price scenarios to quantify financial impact, hedge risks, and protect margins across your portfolio

Strengthen contract control

Drive predictability and improve pricing accuracy through contract reviews and volume-linked pricing models

Mitigate exposure

Apply best-in-class sourcing practices to reduce inflation exposure and protect margins

Market inflation intelligence powered by Inflation Watch

At the core of the solution is Inflation Watch, providing decision-grade visibility into cost movements and inflationary and deflationary trends across direct and indirect categories, helping businesses identify cost-saving opportunities, mitigate risks, and safeguard margins in a volatile market.

What Inflation Watch enables

- Flexible cost structures (custom, nested and pre-built)
- 12-18 months price forecast with integrated market insights
- Inflation summary view including AI-driven recommendations
- Scenario modelling and spend impact simulation
- Built-in approval workflow
- Bring your own license (BYOL) and datasets (BYOD)
- Bulk portfolio setup and downloads
- Business-level roll-ups and dashboards

Powered by AI and human intelligence

3,000+

categories covered

7,800+

cost structures

21,000+

cost drivers

500+

category and commodity experts

A unified platform for cost visibility and forecasts

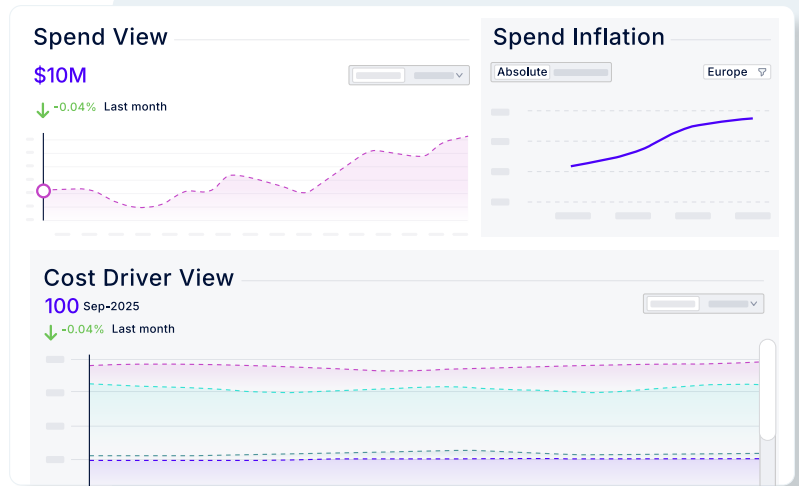

With Inflation Watch, we have not only enhanced our efficiency but also tripled the coverage of our cost models in relation to spending, empowering Siemens Energy to make more informed and strategic decisions in an ever-evolving market."

- Adrian Vicol, Data Strategy Lead & AI Architecture

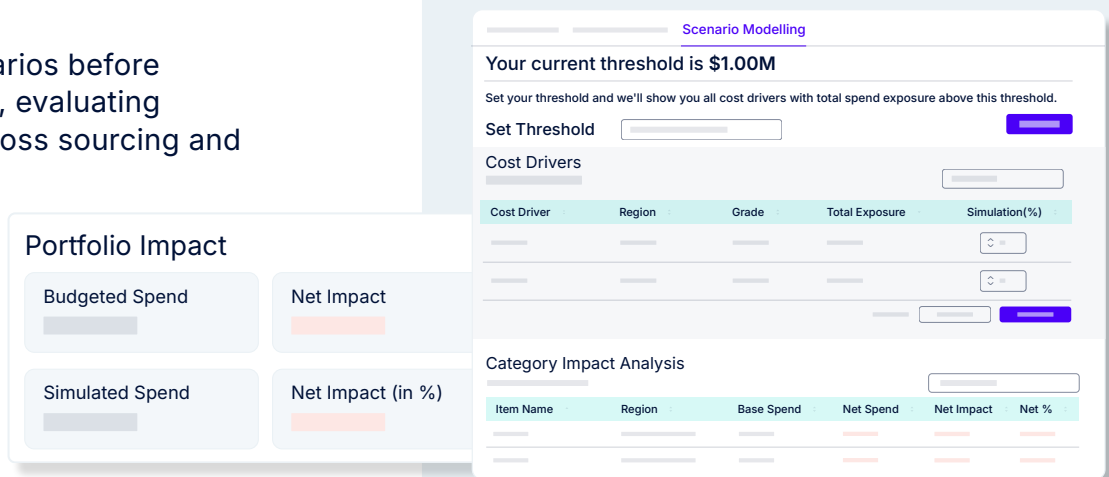

SIEMENS
ENERGY

Make confident decisions in a volatile cost environment

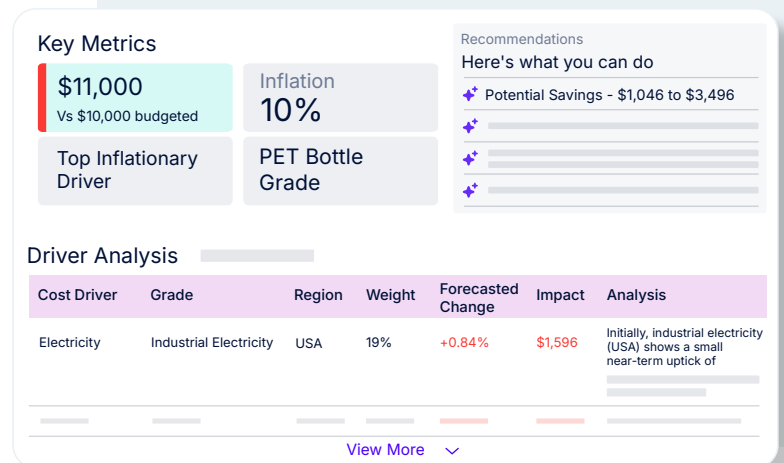

Build more accurate budgets by anticipating cost movements and avoiding unexpected shortfalls

Simulate cost scenarios before decisions are made, evaluating financial impact across sourcing and pricing strategies

Negotiate with confidence using clear insights into cost drivers and price movements

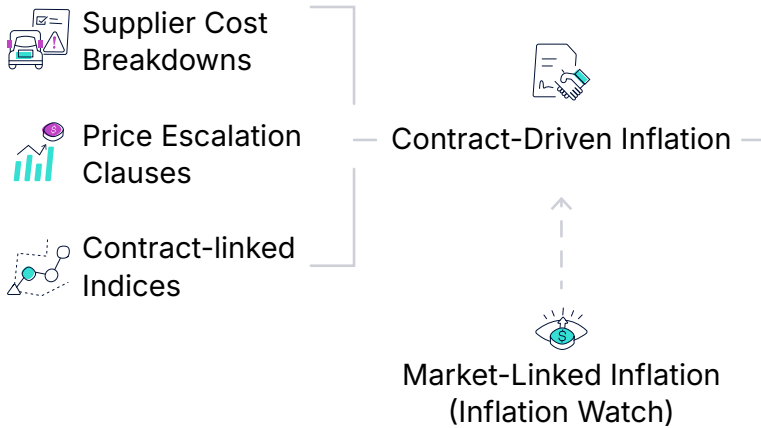

Contract inflation intelligence

Understanding market inflation is essential. Knowing how it flows into contracts completes the picture.

Beroe's contract inflation insights link market signals to supplier contracts to uncover how pricing mechanisms impact actual spend, enabling predictable pricing, stronger governance, and data-backed negotiations.

Turning contract clauses into predictable price insights

Solution Framework

Granular visibility

Understand cost structures at contract level

Compliance and transparency

Assess pricing mechanism by category

Validate supplier claims

Verify inflation impact at unit price level

View portfolio roll-up

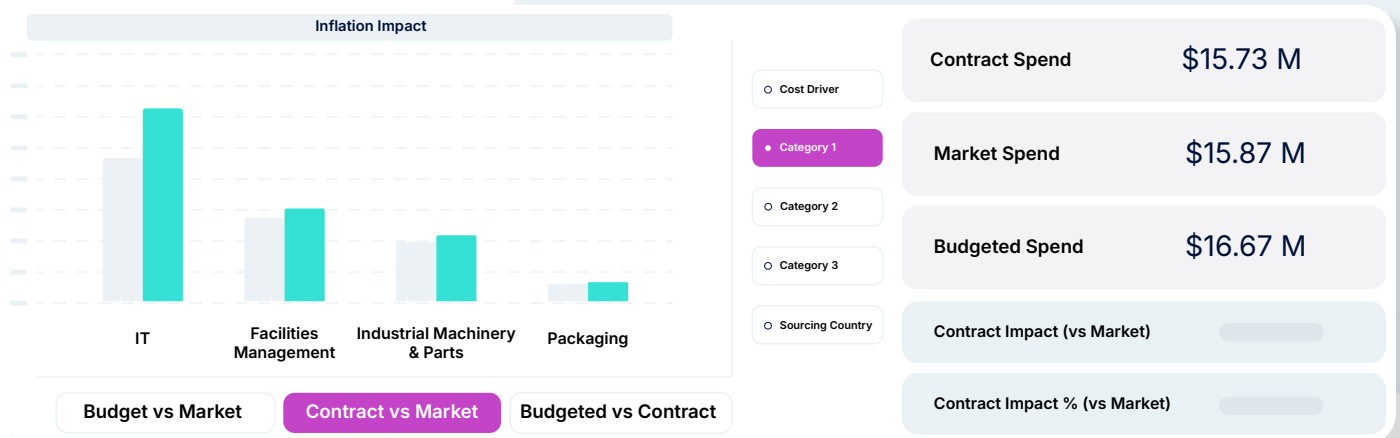

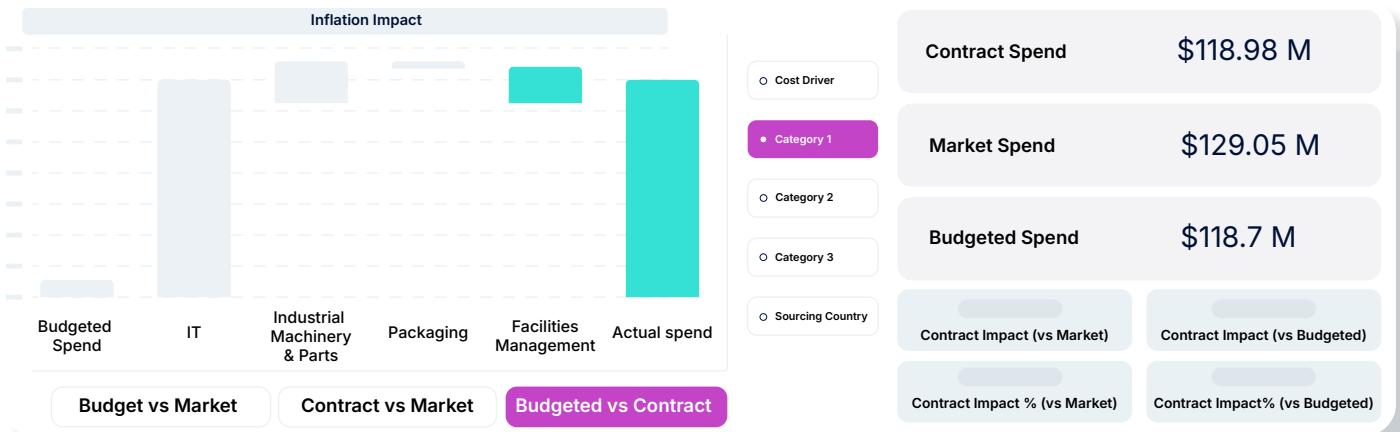

Gain corporate level inflation visibility leveraging spend

Identify renegotiation opportunities

Clear comparison with market trends

Contract and market inflation: Know the gap, close the risk

Get clear visibility into contract-level inflation impact and market gaps to take targeted action.

Inflation is no longer a surprise – teams see it early, understand its impact, and act ahead of the curve with decision-grade intelligence they can trust.

Contact Beroe now to start your journey toward strategic inflation management.

Contact Us